

A special visit to Adam Aaronson Glass Studio
West Horsley Surrey (max 30 members)
Thursday 20th February 2025 – 10.15 to 12.30 – Independent travel

Join us for a morning visit to renowned glass artist Adam Aaronson and his team at the Southeast's largest glassblowing studio and learn about the age-old craft of glassblowing and the hypnotic magic of red-hot molten glass. Tea/coffee/biscuits will be available during the demonstration and there will be time to view (and make purchases!?) in the shop.

During our coffee break you may also like to purchase a raffle ticket (at a cost of £5 per ticket) for any items made by Adam during the morning. The money raised will be given to 'Cherry Trees', a local charity providing home from home care for children with complex disabilities and a meaningful break for their families across Surrey and the surrounding areas. This is a charity much supported by the studio.

Following our visit there is the option of joining members for lunch at the King William IV pub (83 The Street, West Horsley). Tables will be reserved but meals will need to be prebooked. Please indicate on the booking sheet if you would like to stay for lunch (at your own expense).

The menu along with map and directions will be sent to you nearer the time.

Cost: £22.00 pp.
